President’s Message

There is global attention to the complex inter-sectionalities between development, diversity and democracy. It has local, national, regional, continental and civilizational trajectories.

There is no scope for postponing the much needed interrogations three central features of modern times. They are about the strengths and limits of industry driven development, ii. the issue of increasing mismatch between the imperatives of diversity and unity in major human civilizations including India in the age of multi-culturality and migration, and iii. the pathology of multi-party representative democracy with increasing capacity and craving for participatory democracy. We are happy that the Indian sociologists are gathering for a three days dialogue and discussion about the interrelatedness of development, diversity and democracy at Mahatma Gandhi Kashi Vidyapeeth at Varanasi from 29th November to 1st December, 2014. It is a most suitable avenue for our dialogues about the prevailing global questions and national concerns as it was founded by the freedom fighters to promote intellectual base for anti-colonial awareness and movements in society which it did so successfully since its foundation by Mahatma Gandhi in 1921 under the inspiring leadership of luminary thinker-practioners of social sciences like Dr. Bhagwan Das, Acharya Narendra Dev, Dr. Sampa Lall and Shri Srikantak.

It is a matter of deep satisfaction that this 40th national conference of Indian Sociological Society is getting inaugurated by the President of India Shri Pranab Mukherjee. Coming of the president of our republic to the ISS conference is one of the most significant events in the long journey of Indian Sociological Society as Shri Pranab Mukherjee is going to be the first President to address us - the sociologists of India. We are sure that the address by the first citizen of India is going to attract the attention of not only the sociologists of India and abroad. It will be also a source of positive encouragement for the intelligentsia, the media and the society at large to go beyond the myths of the last century in the context of the eternal human quest for liberty, equality and fraternity. The 21st century is drifting from crisis to crisis in the realms of economy, politics and society and we the sociologists are expected to undertake fresh enquiries about the powers and promises of industrialism, homogenisation, and parliamentarism.

I hope that the above will be suitable for your purposes.

Regards,
Anand Kumar

Editor’s Message

Dear Colleagues,
Seasons’ Greetings!

It gives me immense pleasure in bringing you the second volume of the ISS E-newsletter. The launch of E-newsletter has been appreciated by all, which has motivated us to strive to make it more meaningful and informative to members. I take this opportunity of thanking all those members who have provided their feedback as well as information to be shared on this platform to us. The success of this E-newsletter will depend on your participation by way of providing us with news which you all would like to share with sociology fraternity.

By now, all of you must be preparing to go to 40th All India Sociological Conference at Varanasi. In this issue, we bring you the programme of the conference as well as the name of the presenters in various RCs.

Happy academic deliberations
With regards,
Rashmi Jain

RC-18 ‘Sociology of Crime & Deviance’- Publication of an edited Book
Prof. Ramesh H. Makwana, Convener RC-18
P.G. Dept. of Sociology, Sardar Patel University, Gujarat

We have published an edited book on “Contemporary Crime in Indian Society” based on selected Papers presented in RC-18 ‘Sociology of Crime & Deviance’ under Indian Sociological Society. The book published from Gyan Publication, New Delhi. The foreword of this book is written by Prof. Ishwar Modi (Former President of ISS). Findings and policy recommendations of this book are important for policy makers and scholars of Sociology. This positive aspect motivates us to convert such valuable research articles/papers into book form so that positive and constructive message will reach at a large scale. The book will be very useful to planners and policy makers and researchers who are interested in Sociology of crime.
